

Should the insurance sector be equally concerned about closing the protection gap in which markets?

Should insurance regulation support, deter or be neutral regarding infrastructure investments by insurers?

What is the main factor that currently prevents insurers from investing more in infrastructure projects?

