From the Secretary General

Climate change affects all core aspects of the IAIS Mission of policyholder protection and financial stability, which is why it is a key strategic theme in the IAIS’ Strategic Plan 2020-2024. Climate change poses a clear and present risk to the financial and operational resilience of individual insurers. The failure to adequately assess and manage these risks across the financial sector could also pose systemic risk to financial stability. Yet, climate change presents opportunities for the insurance sector too: the insurance industry plays a critical role in the management of climate-related risks and is uniquely qualified to understand the pricing of risks. Insurers can also help build resilience.

At its meeting last week, the Executive Committee held a strategic discussion on the role of insurance supervisors in ensuring that climate risk is effectively assessed and managed and, to that end, how the IAIS could best contribute in this area. There was strong consensus that climate change is a priority for the IAIS, tied to our core objectives of policyholder protection and financial stability. The IAIS’ role mainly lies in monitoring and assessing climate-related risks from both a conduct and a micro- and macroprudential perspective, as well as in promoting a globally consistent supervisory approach to address the risks to the insurance sector. At the same time, it will be important to ensure that insurance regulatory and supervisory practices, while consistent with these core objectives, are also aligned with, or at least do not create any barriers to, the role of the insurance sector as a steward for a broader economic transition to a climate-neutral economy.

The IAIS has made significant progress towards these goals already. Together with the UN convened Sustainable Insurance Forum (SIF), we are finalising an “Application Paper on integrating climate-related risks into day-to-day supervision”. This comprehensive paper builds on previous work of the IAIS and SIF, showcases case studies from its global Membership and includes valuable input from stakeholders received during a public consultation. In addition, later this year, the IAIS will publish the outcomes of a study into the insurance sector’s investment exposures to climate-related risks as our Global Insurance Market Report (GIMAR) special topic. This will include unique insights from a targeted data collection amongst IAIS Members.

Going forward, the IAIS will continue to support its Members in formulating an appropriate supervisory response to climate change. As a next step, we are considering a review of our own supervisory material, including the Insurance Core Principles (ICPs), to assess whether any gaps need to be addressed.

For more information or to subscribe to the newsletter and e-mail alerts, please visit www.iaisweb.org.
Comments and suggestions are always welcome.

In addition to our key partnership with the SIF, the IAIS will continue to support a global approach to addressing climate risk through coordinating with and contributing an insurance perspective to the climate work of the Financial Stability Board (FSB) and Network for Greening the Financial System (NGFS). Through this and other initiatives, we aim to contribute to a strong message on the central role of the insurers, as risk managers, in steering a response to climate change.

In Focus...

IAIS Roadmap 2021-2022

The IAIS' 2021-2022 Roadmap sets out an ambitious vision for the activities that will be undertaken in the coming years to support insurance supervisors and stable insurance markets.

The IAIS recently published its 2021-2022 Roadmap, outlining the Association's work programme for the next two years. Assessing and mitigating risks to the stability of the global insurance sector, while helping our Members to address accelerating risks and opportunities, sit at the heart of the IAIS Roadmap.

The 2021-2022 Roadmap presents a broad range of planned projects in four broad areas aligned with the High Level Goals (HLGs) as set out in our 2020-2024 Strategic Plan:

- Risk assessment and the maintenance of financial stability, including ongoing assessment of potential vulnerabilities arising from the impact of Covid-19;
- Delivering on key post-crisis reforms, including further refinement of the Insurance Capital Standard (ICS) during the current five-year monitoring period and the consistent implementation of the Holistic Framework;
- Supporting members in addressing the risks and opportunities of key trends, especially those accelerated by the Covid-19 crisis. Activities include: work to address climate-related risk and sustainability; supervisory perspectives on the pandemic protection gap; measures to increase operational resilience of insurers; supervisory guidance on responding to digital innovation and cyber risk; supporting activities to implement risk-based solvency regimes in emerging markets and developing economies; and new endeavours in the area of diversity and inclusion; and
- Implementation support and assessment, specifically reinforcing our extensive programme of Member support to help insurance supervisors understand and implement our standards, through training, peer exchange platforms and implementation assessment exercises.

Projects supporting our broad Membership

The projects outlined in the Roadmap span a wide range of topics, reflecting the diversity of issues important to our Members and stakeholders. In total, 37 projects are outlined in the Roadmap; each is described with a detailed objective.

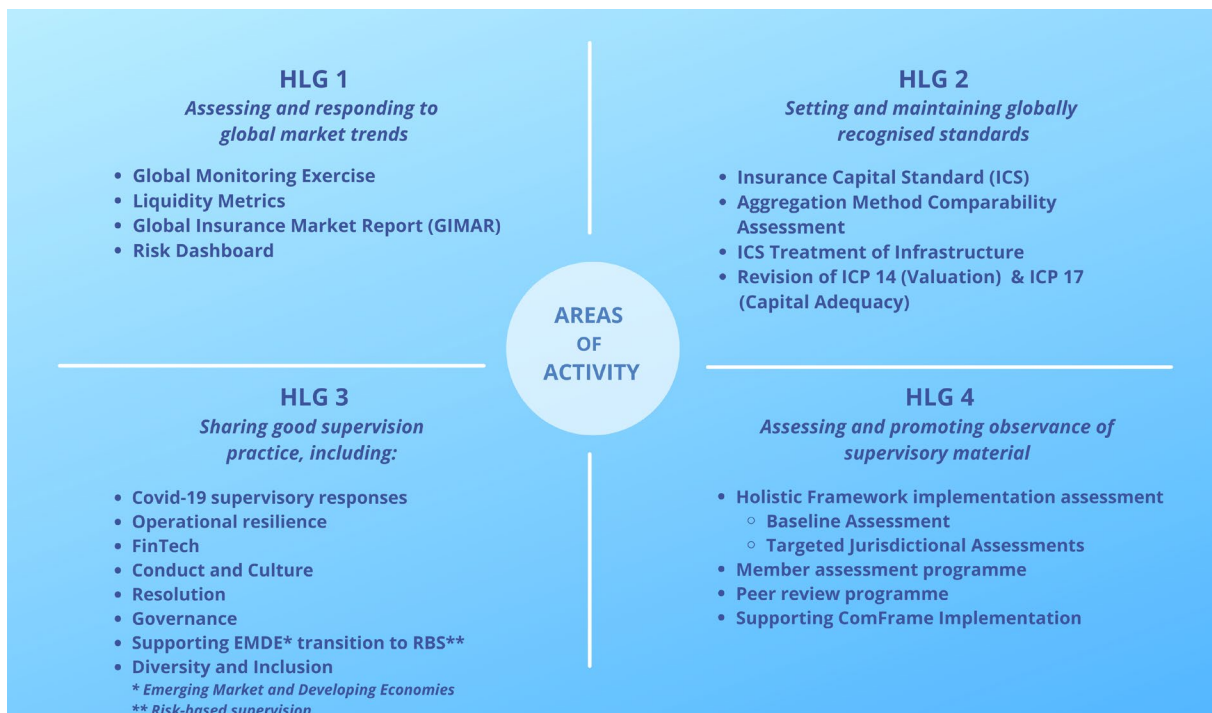

While some projects were already underway and are soon coming to conclusion, new projects are also being introduced. Of those, some were previously planned, while others capture new or accelerating risks and opportunities made prominent in light of Covid-19.

The next two years will see the IAIS advance work on globally-consistent outcomes in the supervision of IAIGs; enhance macroprudential supervision of the global insurance market; and respond to climate risk, technological innovation, cyber risk and other emerging and accelerating trends. An exciting time for the insurance sector and its supervision.

- Jonathan Dixon

Projects in the IAIS Roadmap 2021-2022 are arranged by HLGs.

A globally coordinated endeavour

The plan for the 2021-2022 period is ambitious but realistic. In a resource-constrained environment, the IAIS has worked to identify efficiencies within the work programme, develop strategies to ease any operational burden on Members and determine opportunities to work closely with other Standard Setting Bodies (SSBs) and stakeholders on issues of common interest.

This Roadmap has been developed during a time of continued uncertainty for the insurance sector due to the Covid-19 pandemic, which has added a layer of complexity to planning. For example, the IAIS has had to develop contingencies to progress key activities in the absence of being able to meet in-person.

Delivering on the IAIS Roadmap 2021-2022

The IAIS will continue to work on these important topics collaboratively within our Membership and with our colleagues in the international standard-setting community as well as with our broad range of stakeholders. Given ongoing uncertainties, we will also closely monitor the progress of Roadmap projects and the impact of Covid-19 on the work programme.

News
Updates*Successful first year of monitoring of the global Insurance Capital Standard (ICS) on route to adoption in 2024

The IAIS ExCo last week reviewed results from the 2020 ICS data collection and agreed to progress the 2021 ICS data collection with a small number of revisions to address issues that were identified through the data analysis and from the feedback received in the first year of the monitoring period. In June, the IAIS will publish the updated ICS specifications for the second year of the monitoring period.

During this initial year of monitoring, the IAIS has for the first time received feedback resulting from discussions amongst group-wide supervisors (GWS) and supervisory colleges about ICS performance. This substantial and helpful feedback will contribute to further improvements and planning for the second year of the monitoring period.

Thirty-nine volunteer groups participated in the first year of the ICS monitoring period despite the extreme challenges of Covid-19. Additional volunteer groups will participate in 2021. The IAIS continues to encourage participation across different jurisdictions and business models to ensure that the ICS captures risk appropriately for all IAIGs. IAIS member supervisors remain collectively committed to make participation as large as possible over time.

We are pleased that despite the operational challenges of 2020, the first year of the ICS monitoring period has been effective and has allowed for meaningful feedback and analyses to support IAIS discussions on ICS performance. With the completion of the first year of monitoring, we have taken another step towards our ultimate goal of a single ICS.

- Victoria (Vicky) Saporta

The Covid-19 pandemic has provided a valuable lens through which to assess the performance of the ICS and evaluate the importance of a global insurance standard in periods of global stress. To better understand the potential impact of Covid-19 on ICS performance, the IAIS collected a stressed balance sheet based on actual holdings at end-March 2020, along with year-end 2019 data. Further observations from the stressed conditions of 2020 will provide valuable information for any further refinements of ICS.

Concurrently, the IAIS recently completed a public consultation on a draft definition of comparable outcomes and high-level principles to inform the development of the criteria that will be used to assess whether the Aggregation Method (AM), being developed by the US and other interested jurisdictions, provides comparable outcomes to the ICS. If deemed comparable, the AM will be considered an outcome-equivalent approach for implementation of the ICS as a prescribed capital requirement. Despite a delay in the public consultation due to the Covid-19 pandemic, feedback was received from a number of stakeholders and is currently being reviewed by the IAIS.

“Accelerating global risks demonstrate the importance of a common language for supervisory discussions of group solvency of IAIGs,” said Jonathan Dixon, IAIS Secretary General. “The IAIS is committed to delivering an ICS that is fit for implementation by supervisors by 2024.”

Pensions and Retirement Income Forum seeks Member views

The IAIS is undertaking a Member survey, to learn what issues should be covered in the Retirement Income and Pensions Forum (RIPF) inaugural workplan. The objective of the RIPF is to respond to the demand for an ongoing platform for expert dialogue on retirement income products and pensions impacting insurers.

The RIPF will meet primarily virtually to support the sharing of experiences and perspectives in the areas of pensions and retirement income amongst technical experts. The goal is to enable greater understanding and insight into the impacts of ageing populations and other developments affecting retirement income and pension products. The RIPF will also be responsible for coordination with other SSBs and international organisations addressing these issues.

Members have until 10 March to complete the online survey.

For more information or to receive a unique survey link contact Joe Perry at joe.perry@bis.org.

Stakeholder Engagement

IAIS Update on Governance related work

On 10 February 2021, the IAIS hosted a webinar to update stakeholders on our work on corporate governance and conduct-related topics and to gather feedback on key matters of interest.

The session was led by Anna Jernova, Chair of the Governance Working Group (GWG) and Emma Curtis, Chair of the Market Conduct Working Group (MCWG). The event covered two topics:

- Public background session on the draft “Application Paper on Supervision of Control Functions”, developed by the GWG, currently under public consultation (comments can still be provided until 26 March 2021, further details are available here); and
- Draft “Issues Paper on Insurer Culture”, which is a joint project of the MCWG and the GWG.

During the webinar, the IAIS shared information on the above mentioned projects, their scope, contents and objectives.

The session also included several audience polling questions, which offered interesting insight into stakeholder perspectives:

- Insurer culture was recognised as “critical” or “important” in ensuring a more integrated view of prudential and conduct vulnerabilities across an insurer’s business;
- Multiple cultural drivers (identified in the draft Issues Paper) were acknowledged as relevant in the context of culture being an interlinkage between prudential and conduct risks. These included: insurer’s values, business objectives and strategies; leadership accountability; communication within the insurer; and internal remuneration and performance management structures; and
- Ensuring effectiveness of different control functions may be challenging for insurers and multiple areas may create difficulties in this regard (as described in the draft Application Paper, these include: independence, stature, combination and outsourcing of control functions).

The presentation and recorded video from this public session are available on the IAIS website (here).

Launch of public consultation related to Macroprudential Supervision

On Monday, 8 March 2021, the IAIS launched a public consultation on the draft “Application Paper on Macroprudential Supervision” (Paper). This Paper aims to help with the practical application of supervisory material related to macroprudential supervision in Insurance Core Principle (ICP) 24. As part of the Holistic Framework for the assessment and mitigation of systemic risk in the insurance sector, ICP 24 was revised in November 2019 to more explicitly address, among other topics, the build-up and transmission of systemic risk at the individual insurer and sector-wide level.

The IAIS will host a webinar on Tuesday 23 March to present the Paper and answer questions from stakeholders. This session will be led by the Chair of the Macroprudential Supervision Working Group, Videshree Rooplall (South African Reserve Bank). Comments can be provided on the Paper until Friday, 7 May 2021 and further details are available here.

Webinar on Insurability of Pandemic Risk | 5 March

Kai-Uwe Schanz from the Geneva Association, an insurance industry think tank, shared insights from his research into the insurability of pandemic risk at this webinar on 5 March. He illustrated the staggering mismatch between economic losses and business interruption insurers' risk-taking capacity, as well as past demand for pandemic coverages: insurers would have to collect premiums for 150 years in order to absorb the estimated global output loss inflicted by Covid-19 in 2020. He concluded that insurers would fundamentally be unable to insure such risks due to the lack of global diversification, though they could play an important role in professionalising pandemic response.

Following the presentation, in a Q&A moderated by Conor Donaldson, Head of Implementation at the IAIS, the role of the insurance supervisors in acting as translators between policy-makers and insurers and the role of trust in the insurance industry was discussed.

This 75-minute Dialogue will be open to all stakeholders and will take place at 10 am CET in English (with simultaneous French interpretation) and 4 pm CET in Spanish (with simultaneous English interpretation). Click here for more information or to register.
